People in mild climates in the northern hemisphere sometimes experience periods of very hot and humid weather.  Another reason for the name may be their belief that dogs became mad because of some mysterious powers at that time.

- A. They believed that Sirius, the Dog Star, which rises with the sun during this time, added its heat to the sun's and caused the hot weather.
- B. This expression comes from Latin, the language used by the ancient Romans.
- C. These periods, which occur in July, August, and early September, are called "dog days" in English.

- ① A - B - C      ② C - A - B      ③ B - C - A
- ④ C - B - A      ⑤ A - C - B      ⑥ B - A - C
